Our storytellers tell a wide range of stories, and some also present interactive programs or workshops that engage the audience in telling their own stories. Tell us briefly what kind of program you have in mind:

What kind(s) of stories would you like (folktales, family stories, historical tales, etc.)?

Who will be in the audience?

Possible audience size?

Length of program?

Please Note: Normally our storytellers receive a fee and travel expenses for their performances. Some sponsors cover these expenses from their own budgets; others request donations from attendees; others submit mini-grant proposals to local or state organizations or businesses (we can help with these proposals). When we contact you to follow up on your request, we will discuss these arrangements with you.
